

WORLD CENTER AID 2001

The Fanwood Rescue Squad sent crews on two nights for 12 hour duty shifts near the WTC disaster site following that awful day on September 11, 2001. Along with hundreds of rescue squads from across the country, our crews were available for whatever help was needed. At left, First Lt. Jeff Downing, EMT Patti Keever, Sgt. Eileen Ochsner and EMT Mark Crawford stand by at West Avenue and Chambers Street. Because of an overwhelming response by volunteers from New Jersey and elsewhere, New York officials were forced to ask volunteers to stay away unless specifically asked. Two years later, we received a citation (right, click on it) from the FDNY.
